A DOG'S TALE.

He Was Kind Yet Ferocious, But He Died.

SOME REMEDIES FOR HYDROPHOBIA.

A Tragic Episode of Commercial Itineracy in the Sun-Kissed Glen of Sweet Sunol.

Only the tale of a dog, but it took all day in the telling and it filled Justice Snook's courtroom yesterday with a crowd of men, women, and boys whose brown faces and tanned hands showed that the sunniness of sunny Sunol is still in business at the old stand.

J. F. Gawthorne has a ranch in Sunol to which he retires after the fatigue of reporting the speech of men by means of "I" hooks and light and heavy strokes above and below the line. One of his pleasures at the ranch has been the company of a pet dog, a half breed shepherd with yellow ears and yellow patches on his body, as faithful a watchdog as any of those painted in attitudes of great trust on the Wells Fargo wagons. This company he enjoyed until May 18th.

Richard Phelan of Vallecito junction is a peddler of brushes, and on the day mentioned his commercial itinerary brought him to the Gawthorne ranch, where the dog met him in the calf of the leg. The brush merchant then shot him. Out of a hundred, ninety-nine men would have let the matter drop, or at most would have brought a suit for damages, but Mr. Gawthorne is the hundredth man, and therefore he brought suit against Phelan for the misdemeanor of malicious mischief with which a jury had to wrestle, and over which it finally disagreed.

Mr. Gawthorne and District Attorney Reed helped the bewildered people of the State of California get at the facts. A map of the Gawthorne ranch was put in evidence, showing the position of the dog at the several stages of the game, photographs, also, of the Gawthorne cottage showed the dog in his great act of "gentle as a child, your honor," in which the pose involved a mouth wide open and a large exhibition of tongue, and for the defense Phelan put in evidence his right leg, with the still unhealed marks of the dog's teeth. The rest of the testimony was parol.

Without much incident Mr. Gawthorne and his witnesses gave the history of the dog, from puppyhood to his death. One of his witnesses was his foreman, who took the stand under the name of Anton Marshall.

"What's your name?" asked the Justice.

"Antonio Marchado Leonardo."

"Hold on," said Mr. Chapman, "That isn't the name in the subpœna."

"Oh! that's all right," said the witness. "The other one's my short name."

"So you have two names, have you?"

"Yes, sir. My long name is Antonio Marchado Leonardo, but the name that people call me by is Anton Marshall—that's my short name."

All through the morning and well into the afternoon the Gawthorne testimony proved the gentleness of the dog, which certainly seemed to equal that of old dog Tray, and the prosecution rested after Mrs. Brown, who is Mr. Gawthorne's mother-in-law, had testified that he was kind, faithful, affectionate, and trusty, and that she would have trusted him with her life.

Then Mr. Phelan, a young man with a delicious touch of the accent of old Ireland, took the stand. The question, "What is your business?" served to set him going, and neither court nor counsel could stop him till he had had his say, the most of which the jury was instructed to strike out of its duodecimal brain. He had a few words to say on the general subject of bush peddling, and then went into the details of what he did on that 18th day of May. How he followed the road from Sunol until he came to a fork like a "Y" with the shank of it on the road he had been traveling; how he took the lower road to Gawthorne's place and talked with a boy whitewashing the fence, who directed him to Thomson's house on the upper road. Then following the directions he went along Mr. Gawthorne's private road to the Thomsons, where he could not sell any brushes because they had no small change, but they wanted to buy them just the same, for they knew a good brush when they saw it.

He went on to tell how he was returning along the public road and saw two dogs under a spreading oak tree on Mr. Gawthorne's land, the dog that is now dead and a smaller one. "I thought he was a friendly sort of a dog by the wag that he had on the tail of him. But the baste he shlipped up behind me and unbeknownst and took a nip of the calf of me leg that he did." Then he shot at the dog four times with a revolver and missed him.

In following up the dog to see where he belonged he encountered Mr. Marshall, who told him that he would go mad and that he should kill the dog and put a small piece of his tongue or his ear up against the wound to draw the poison out. "Now, I shouldn't have thought of that meself, I thought it was only necessary to kill the dog."

Mrs. Marshall went with him to the lower road and there they encountered her long and short-nailed husband and Mrs. Browne. To them he said he would either kill the dog or else sue for $500 damages. Then Antonio grew angry, but Mrs. Browne said "Shut up, Anton; we'll get just as smart a lawyer agin him."

"What's that?" asked Mr. Reed.

"Well, sir, she said he'd get as smart a lawyer as I would."

"All right; go on."

"Well, that's what he said, sir."

"Go on."

His narrative next took him to Sunol where he showed his damaged leg to the station agent, who said: "You've got to kill that dog right away or you'll go mad pretty soon," and lent him a shotgun. It was a double barreled gun, it had two barrels one along side of the other. Then he did his leg up with arnica. After that he went back to Gawthorne's place and shot the dog where he was tied up. He went close up to him before shooting.

"What did you do that for?" asked Mr. Reed.

"I wouldn't shoot when I couldn't hit him, sir."

"Well, you missed him four times with your revolver."

"Yes, but a man sometimes mistaken in his aim and judgment. Anyway, I'd have hit him had he stood still."

"Did you shoot once or two with the shotgun?"

"Well, sir, you may say it was only once. I had my two fingers on both triggers at once, and I pulled them, as you may say, simultaneously and gave him both barrels together."

"Did you point your pistol at Mrs. Browne?"

"I did not, sir. I wouldn't think of such a thing as pointing a pistol at a woman, and saying, I shall [illegible] gunif she had any hostile intention, though it wasn't loaded, to be sure.

"Now, your Honor, I want to say something. Mr. Gawthorne called me an irresponsible tramp, and I want to say that I've had as good an education and as varied, and I've been in places where Mr. Gawthorne wouldn't be let go, and I've been in the refinery of gold and silver, and I've handled a hundred and fifty million dollars in small pieces, and can he say the like of that?"

A PARISH SCHOOL.

Young Ladies Are Graduated From St. Joseph's Institute.

Yesterday afternoon the graduating exercises of the Senior class of the girls' school of St. Joseph's Institute, West Oakland, were held before an audience of over 300 people. The hall was beautifully ornamented with flowers, and over the stage was suspended the class motto, "On the Threshold." The programme opened with "March Triumphale," performed on the piano by Misses M. Donnelly, S. Detels, L. Young, A. Farrell, and on the organ by Miss M. Hickey.

"Ave Maria" was then rendered in solo and chorus by the seniors.

The salutatory, entitled "Mingled Joy and Sadness," was delivered by Miss Mary G. Donnelly. "Qui Vive" (Ganz) was performed on the piano by the Misses M. Hickey, A. Hennessy, M. Donnelly, M. Kavanaugh, A. Farrell, S. Detels, and L. Young.

An essay on "True Womanhood," followed by Miss Annie Hennessy. The song, "Come where the Lilies Bloom," was then rendered, with an accompaniment by the Misses M. Hickey, A. Farrell, A. C. Farrel, L. Donnelly, and L. Kenrick.

"The Bird and the Rose," by Miss Margaret E. Hickey, followed. Then came an overture, "Elizabeth" (V. Rossini), rendered by Miss M. Donnelly, M. Hickey, S. Detels, A. Farrell, L. Young, and M. Kavanagh.

Miss Anna R. Dugan then read an essay entitled "The Casket and its Jewel." Miss Margaret E. Hickey rendered an instrumental solo in a very creditable manner.

The valedictory, "Memory's Record, Sad and Sweet," was then read by Miss Blanche H. Price, and the programme ended by a song, with piano accompaniment, entitled "Farewell to Alma Mater."

Diplomas were awarded to the following gradnates: Mary G Donnelly, Margaret E. Hickey, Anna R. Dugan, Annie A. Hennessy, and Blanche V. Price.

The exercises were much enjoyed by the large number of auditors. The school will open at the same time with the public schools.

THE DIETZ CASE.

The Statement on Appeal Filed in the Superior Court.

The statement on appeal in the case of the People against A. C. Dietz, convicted of selling liquor without a license, was this morning filed in the Superior Court. The case has been assigned to Judge Greene's department of the Superior Court. The questions involved are purely questions of law. The appellant claims that the court allowed improper testimony to go in against the objection of the defendant. The Judge of the Superior Court will be called upon either to remand the case for a new trial or affirm the judgment of the lower court. The appeal will not be heard until after vacation.

STUDENTS OF PHILOSOPHY.

Professor Howison's Pupils Will Hold a Reunion.

Professor G. H. Howison, who occupies the Mills professorship of philosophy at the State University, has sent an invitation to all students who pursued studies under him at Berkeley to a reunion, which will be held on some evening during Commencement week. The invitations read as follows:

The approaching Commencement on the 26th of June marks the close of the first five years in the work of the Department of Philosophy. As the occasion is also one of peculiar interest to the University as a whole, being the twentieth anniversary of its actual opening, and is to be appropriately observed with special exercises set on foot by the alumni, it seems highly desirable to make use of this opportunity to inaugurate measures for securing some closer union of interest, sympathy, and action among the students, past and future, of the Department of Philosophy.

To this end I invite you, each and all, my pupils in the past five years, with the most cordial urgency, to come as my guests to a reunion of the students of philosophy, to be held on some evening of Commencement week, the exact date and place of the meeting to be announced later.

A supper suitably simple will be served, and appropriate addresses, chiefly by members of your own body, may be expected.

It is hoped that this occasion may be so successful as to prove but the first of an unbroken series of similar assemblages, recurring every five years.

Formerly of This City.

Charles H. Butler, who has a great many friends in this city, where he was once a member of the well-known firm of Smith & Butler, has associated himself with F. M. Phelps, under the firm name of Phelps, Butler & Co., doing general commission merchants, doing business at 329 Davis street, San Francisco. Messrs. Phelps & Butler are members of the San Francisco Produce Exchange, and will, no doubt, build up a profitable business.

No One Wants James.

Rev. G. W. James, the astronomer, mnemonician, and social purist, formerly a resident of Oakland, who near Los Angeles distinguished himself by beating his wife and having his young sister live with his stepson, removed to Oleander near Fresno, after his expulsion from his former charge. He issued a paper called the Social Purity Pioneer, and some of the articles so enraged the residents that they have advised James to leave town promptly.

Cherry Ripe.

A full car load of San Lorenzo cherries was shipped to Chicago last night. Growers complain that there is no money in the local market and that they can make no profit unless they get at least 4 cents a pound, laid down at the railroad station. The eastern market, however, is very satisfactory, as the fruit sells to consumers all the way from 20 to 40 cents a pound.

A Mormon Teacher.

Joseph Smith, son of the Mormon prophet by that name killed in the jail at Carthage, Mo., in June, 1844, will speak in the Baptist Church on Harrison street, near Fifth, to-night and to-morrow night at 7:30 P. M.

The County Infirmary.

The Supervisors paid their regular monthly visit of inspection to the County Infirmary to-day. They were accompanied by Dr. Adam Shirk who will take charge of the institution July 1st.

A Broken Arm.

Miss Josie Standeford, daughter of D. W. Standeford, slipped and fell this morning, fracturing her left arm at the wrist. Dr. Woolsey reduced the fracture.

FOR THE HUNGRY.

Money for the Distressed in Pennsylvania.

A PUBLIC MEETING THIS EVENING.

A Great Musical and Dramatic Entertainment Projected—A List of New Donations.

The business men, public officials, and residents of Oakland are not listening to the plainive calls for help from Pennsylvania with feelings of indifference as many were led to believe. They are responding bravely and generously to the call, and by the end of this week there is no doubt that Oakland will be a proud second among the cities of California in the sum subscribed for the distressed people of Johnstown.

Those who are inclined to think that this city has so far shown only small donations, and these not very numerous, should bear in mind that many of the wealthiest residents of this city are engaged in business in San Francisco, and have made their donations there, from which place they will be recorded, of course.

To-night there will be a mass meeting at the City Hall, over which Mayor Glascock will preside. The following well known speakers will address the meeeting: Mayor John R. Glascock, J. C. Henry, William R. Davis, Charles T. Pierce, Rev. George W. Bothwell, William D. English, W. W. Camron, Frank A. Leach, W. E. Dargie, J. T. Carothers, John Hackett, J. C. Wilson, D. S. Hirshberg, J. M. Hanford, R. C. Caskill, M. C. Chapman.

This meeting was originally called for Hamilton Hall, but the City Hall is deemed a more suitable place, hence the meeting will be held there.

Music will be furnished by the Fifth Infantry Regiment Band.

While the residents of the central portion of the city are coming to the front very liberally, the East Oaklanders appear to be still asleep. A TRIBUNE reporter this morning visited a number of places where subscription lists had been left. On one of these appeared two donations, amounting to the sum of 75 cents, which had been subscribed by comparatively poor men.

At the office of Mathews & Larue, real estate agents, there appeared not a cent on the list, and similar blankness was on the list at the Gem Saloon.

The list at the drug store of Melvin & Co. shows S. H. Melvin's name down for $10 and "A Sympathizer," $1. At Mason's grocery store J. H. Wildes had subscribed $5.

Members of the Oakland Turn Verein have contributed about $50. The subscription list was actively circulated by A. Kayser of the Oakland Journal.

F. H. De Pue and wife will give a performance of his celebrated trained horses at the riding academy, corner of Eighth and Harrison streets, Saturday evening next. The entire proceeds will go to the fund for the relief of the sufferers.

At San Leandro $110 was collected in three hours yesterday by Mr. Drury and T. H. Lantzan, and more will come.

The employes of the Judson Iron Works gave $120 with readiness.

The Catholic Ladies' Aid Society has deposited $25 in the Oakland Bank of Savings, donated by Branch No. 1 of Oakland.

The Bricklayers' Union will meet this evening at Germania Hall to consider measures of relief for the sufferers.

Earnest efforts are being made to organize an extensive and interesting entertainment, to be given some evening next week, probably Thursday, the entire proceeds of which will be devoted to the fund for the Pennsylvania sufferers.

W. T. Hamilton said to a TRIBUNE reporter today that he is sure the Harmonic Society will tender its services to the entertainment. D. P. Hughes, the musical director of the society has expressed his willingness to do all in his power to assist. It is believed that the Choral Society will also volunteer to take part.

Riehl's German Quartet and the Turn-Verein have offered their services to the enterprise. The Turners will give athletic exhibitions. A. C. Dietz has tendered the use of his Opera House for rehearsals and the Oakland Theater for the entertainment, all free of charge.

Measures will doubtless be taken at to-night's mass meeting to place the matter properly before the public.

LIKE CRIMINALS.

Jurors Cooped in a Small Room for Two Days.

NO CONVENIENCES FOR WASHING.

Not Enough Chairs to Set Upon and Not Enough Blankets to Wrap Themselves in Withal.

Another Police Court jury is creating a considerable amount of excitement around the City Hall, and apparently the jurors are determined to stand by their convictions in spite of the prospect of an eternity in the little box of a jury room.

"I have the names of 25,000 persons who purchase Chinese lottery tickets in this city, and I am going to make it a little hard for them to get a jury," said M. C. Chapman before the trial. He kept his word, for five venires were exhausted and 150 citizens were examined to obtain the twelve good men and true now crying Ah Sing for selling lottery tickets.

Two days were required to obtain that jury, and on Tuesday evening Judge Laidlaw held a night session of the Police Court, and at 10 o'clock the jury retired to deliberate.

The trial was not particularly interesting. After two days had been expended in getting a jury, everybody was tired. M. C. Chapman made a new line of defence for his client. He did not attempt to deny that the ticket was a lottery ticket, but they denied that Ah Sing sold it. The ticket was introduced in evidence, and was translated by Gee Sam, the court interpreter, and this is what it read:

The heavens are round and dark. The earth is square and yellow. Universe is a great waste. The sun waxes and the moon wanes. Stars and planets spread over the heavens. Cold weather coming; hot weather going. The remaining days form leap year. Positive and negative harmonize. The clouds move and rain deserteds. Dew congeals into frost. Gold is found in the river of Li Shuey. Jet is found in the mountains of Gum Gong. The precious sword is called Goe Hit. The pearl Illuminates in the night. This pearl is called the night glory. The most delicious fruit is the plum and nectarine. The best of vegetables is mustard green and ginger. The sea has salt water and the river has fresh water. Fishes live in the sea and fowls fly in the air. The names of the three holy Emperors are: Dragon Professor, King of Fire, Majesty of Birds. These are the three holy Emperors.

This is a portion of a famous Chinese poem of 1000 characters.

Running across the middle and dividing the two sections of the ticket are the directions in Chinese: "Print or stamp according to the original."

On the side of the ticket is written in Chinese characters: Fourth month, twelfth day (five chances). This corresponds to the 10th of May, 1889. On the upper edge of the ticket are the words: "Everlasting, perfect fountain. The night lottery house." Directly below this is printed in English characters: "Wing Lay Yuen. Night Time." The latter is only put in as a "blind," with the object of defeating the law by omitting the word lottery.

The jury had their breakfast yesterday at their own expense, but Judge Laidlaw ordered their lunch and dinner, and will present the bill to the Council. If the Council refuses to pay it, he will pay it himself. He says that a jury should be able to agree, and they should not be starved into agreement.

The jurors had been away from home thirty-six hours yesterday afternoon, and Chief Tompkins and the Police Department were besieged with women who wanted the police to find their husbands, who had been either lost, killed or kidnapped.

"What is your name, madam?"

She would tell him, and they would refer to a little slip with the names of the jurymen thereon.

"See Mr. O'Brien in the Police Court."

Then Mr. O'Brien would tell them about the jury.

As 8 o'clock drew near last evening one woman appeared carrying an immense bundle of bedding for her husband.

Mrs. S. H. Mugrage appeared in the Police Court during the Osborn trial yesterday afternoon with the information that her husband had been murdered and carried off, and visions of the Cronin murder flitted before her eyes. Police Clerk O'Brien comforted her, and told her that Mr. Mugrage was merely locked up in the jury room, and then she went home happy.

Last evening the vote stood 9 for acquittal and 3 for conviction. The jury at first stood 6 to 6.

Last evening defendant's attorney, M. C. Chapman, Deputy District Attorney Church, and others were in the courtroom and the subject of Chinese lotteries was discussed.

"You are all sworn officers of this court and you are sworn to support the Constitution and obey the laws of California," said Mr. Chapman, "and it is against the law to sell or transfer any lottery ticket. I don't know what kind of an oath I took in Sacramento."

Captain Wilson and Police Clerk O'Brien and several others maintained that the Chinese issue bogus tickets and drawings.

"I don't think so," replied Mr. Chapman, "because it is easy enough to fix the percentage so that they can get about all there is in it. I remember when I was trying those other cases the Chinese used to come into the office and bring me tickets. I never knew anything about it, and by and by they would come around and tell me that this ticket had won; and I noticed that just about a third won."

The jurymen are: S. Reubel, J. N. King, Sol Greenhood, S. H. Steward, C. W. Cornor, L. Drescoe, W. L. Curtis, A. F. Blanchard, Charles Fawcett, C. H. Pearson, O. B. Arlet, and S. H. Mugrage.

One man on the jury felt himself particularly injured. That was L. Dresco. He said that he wanted wine to drink. He had always been used to wine, and he would die if he had to drink the Oakland water. But Mr. Dresco had to drink the water, and he is not dead yet.

Mr. Farwell looked dubiously at the prison blankets, and remarked: "I'm going to lie down and meet the fate that comes to all jurors in this room. Tell them to keep my grave green, but I am going to hold to my convictions."

This morning at 8 o'clock Judge Laidlaw called the jury into court and said: "Gentlemen of the jury, before discharging you the court, in justice to itself and to this community, feels it its duty at this time to say that in all its experience no more disgraceful action ever took place. It is the action of juries such as you have seen fit to take that is responsible for the prevalence of crime in this city. You seem to have openly taken the position of fostering crime in general, and the Chinese lotteries in particular which now infest our fair city. It can truthfully be said of you that you not only have no regard for the proper administration of law and justice, and the general welfare of the community in which you live. In all the experience of this court never has the guilt of a defendant been presented more clearly, more conclusively, and more positively than in the present instance.

He then dismissed the jury, one juror remarking, "Don't want another dose like that."

Judge Laidlaw says that there is but one Chinaman who is not guilty of selling lottery tickets of all those who are under arrest.

M. C. Chapman says that this is a very peculiar remark for a Judge to make, who is expected to try cases according to the law and the evidence produced at the trial.

The jurors this morning prepared the following censorious letter:

We, the undersigned, jurors in the case of the People against Ah Sing, do hereby make a complaint to the public at large to express our feelings of the treatment that we have received while being in the custody of the court.

Our breakfast we were compelled to purchase at our own expense, after being locked up in a small room that should be condemned under a section of the public ordinance.

The majority of the jurors are business men of the city of Oakland; some of them have been here since Monday, June 3d and staying two nights, which is an outrage on good and intelligent citizens—for what? simply a small offense said to have been committed, namely, the smaller crime in the calendar of crimes—misdemeanor.

We have not even had any soap or towels to keep ourselves clean after repeated asking for them, which is a common necessity.

The first night we were not furnished with enough chairs to sit upon, nor any blankets.

The second night there were some old blankets brought in, and also some new ones. The new ones were called for after some of the jurors had laid themselves out to rest for the night. The reason for taking them was that the clerks wanted them appropriate to their own use. We also had to purchase our own breakfast or do without until noon time.

We, as a body, do wish to call the public attention to the treatment that we had through the gross negligence of the county treated more as common drunks rather than as a body of intelligent citizens selected out of a venire of over 125 men to either convict or acquit the defendant.

It is our unanimous opinion as an intelligent body that we do censure the manner of the Police Courts in trying men of small crimes by the jury system, as it retards the progress of our individual business, which, through the various walks of life, we are all compelled to earn our necessities.

DEFAULTING JURORS.

Mr. Worley Finds That the Court Is Greater Than He.

Judge Laidlaw has been having considerable trouble with defaulting jurors, and he has decided to put a stop to it, regardless of processes of the court. Yesterday he issued a bench warrant for the arrest of Henry Worley and Carl Nolty, both of whom failed to appear in court, after having been summoned by Officer Phillips.

Officer Phillips explained that he had summoned Mr. Worley, who replied that he is not a blanked jury fiend and he would not appear in court. Officer Phillips went to arrest him. He locked the valiant Officer Phillips out and tried to hold down a window. The officer pulled harder than Mr. Worley, and read the warrant. Mr. Worley did not seem to think it very interesting and retired to the rear of the house. He finally told Mr. Phillips that was all his blanked spite, whereupon Mr. Phillips bucked him also for vulgar language.

This morning Mr. Worley said that his arrest was because of spite of Phillips because he refused to pay him when he was a special. Worley pleaded guilty and will be sentenced to-morrow.

Carl Nolty was summoned on two venires for one case. He was fined $5 this morning, in spite of the fact that he said that he is not a citizen.

AROUND HER WAIST

Attorney Moore Illustrating Testimony to a Country Justice.

There was a lively time in the courtroom of Justice Austin at Haywards yesterday afternoon when the case of Manuel Marchiel, accused of assaulting Bella Loud, an 18-year-old girl, came up for preliminary hearing. The defendant was represented by A. A. Moore. Deputy District Attorney Church appeared for the people. The young lady proved to be an interesting witness, but her story did not stand the test of cross-examination. Mr. Moore wanted the young lady to show him how the defendant had made love to her. She stepped down from the witness stand and the attorney gently placed his arm around her waist, and as he walked across the courtroom with her remarked, "Did he do like that?"

"Sir, you just take your arm away," snapped the young lady.

The attorney withdrew his arm from its resting place and assured the young lady that he was simply trying to illustrate her testimony to the court. The defendant was discharged.

LEGALLY IN JAIL

A New Comer Runs Against the Poll Tax Collector.

A few days ago Lawrence Roche made his appearance at the town of Mount Eden. He had come from San Jose and was in search of employment. Roadmaster John Cook is collecting the poll taxes in that district and he requested the stranger to pay his poll tax or show a receipt for payment. The new arrival refused to comply with the request of the country officials, and he was arrested for misdemeanor. Roche was brought before Justice Austin, and was speedily found guilty of violating the law and sentenced to pay a fine of $20, with the alternative of the fine being twenty days in the County Jail. The fine was not paid. As he has no money he was compelled to take the alternative, and he is now sojourning at the Hall's Hotel. District Attorney Reed says the man is legally in custody.

BEER AND WINE.

A Physician's Remarks About Mild Drinks.

MODERATE DRINKING IS HARMFUL.

Dr. Young's Comments Upon the Effects of Drinking Vinous and Malt Liquors.

"Wine is a mocker and beer is swill, and he who is deceived thereby will have a sick stomach, many bitter hours on the stool of repentance, and an early grave."

The above sentence is not an exact quotation, but it conveys the sentiments of a well known physician in this city.

Dr. J. M. Young was visited by a TRIBUNE reporter yesterday evening at his office, 1155 Broadway, for the purpose of obtaining his views on the beer and wine question from a medical standpoint.

"What do you think of the propositions made in the City Council to "exempt wine and beer from the special license tax?" asked the reporter.

"I think it is perfectly idiotic," replied the doctor with considerable warmth. "If that amendment is embodied in the license ordinance it will defeat the very purpose that we have in view."

"From your observation, doctor, what is the effect of wine and beer on the health of those who use these liquors as a beverage?"

"The effect is more or less detrimental in every case. Beer and wine are drunk for the intoxicants they contain, and whenever intoxicants are absorbed by the human system they weaken it. The healthy tissues are destroyed and the nerves are unstrung."

"What about so-called moderate drinking?"

"That's all bosh. The question of moderate or excessive drinking is simply a question of how much or how little the drinker shall injure himself."

"Is not beer conducive to health under certain conditions?"

"Never. If, as happens on rare occasions in the practice of medicine, a person is prostrated by nervous debility or other weakness and needs a stimulant, the only proper thing to use is good, pure brandy."

"You do not believe, then, that the temperance cause will be aided by cheapening wine and beer?" suggested the reporter.

"No, sir, I do not. The beer and wine drinking nations are the drunken nations of the earth, and the people who are habitually addicted to drinking wine and beer do not stand in the front ranks of civilization, as every unbiased man must know. Facts are stubborn things. Furthermore, the use of intoxicating liquors shortens life in every case, and in cases of sickness the habitual drinker does not stand half the chances of recovery that does the abstainer."

"How much of the prevalent insanity is attributable to drink?"

"A great deal of it. And there is more hereditary insanity, idiocy and stupidity caused by beer and wine drinking parents than most people have any idea of. That is certainly one instance where the sins of the parents are visited upon the children for many generations."

"Have you met with many cases of drunkenness from beer and wine in your practice as a physician?"

"Hundreds of them. Beer drunkards are now even more common than whisky drunkards. Some people are so organized that two or three glasses of beer will make them just as drunk as would the same number of glasses of whisky."

"Do you think that the morphine and opium habits are in any degree due to intemperance in drink?"

"No I do not. Seven tenths of these cases are caused by physicians prescribing these drugs in cases of nervous irritation."

"Have you met many women in your practice in this city who are habitual drunkards?"

"Indeed I have not. I have had three or four lady patients who were in the habit of 'taking a sup too much,' but these were isolated cases. The ladies of Oakland are as sober, good, and noble as

MR. SMITH OF OAKLAND.

He Has Trouble About Some Little Birds.

Los Angeles Tribune.

William Smith, who is a resident of Oakland, is also the owner of a number of little birds upon which he had pinned the affection of his heart. On June 29, 1887, Smith was in the town of Fort Worth, Tex., en route home from Tennessee, and he had the birds with him in a box that he would not suffer to go out of his possession. At Fort Worth, Smith claims to have purchased a ticket to San Francisco via the Southern Pacific route, and to have boarded a train of that company with the box of little birds still in his possession. These alleged facts came out in a complaint filed by Smith yesterday in the United States Circuit Court against the Southern Pacific Company. Smith alleges further that he rode upon the train, still with the little birds in his possession, until he had reached a point well into the deserts of Arizona, and that at that point several of the employes of the company, the conductor and brakeman, to wit, demanded that he give the birds into their possession. This Smith declined to do without receiving in return a receipt therefor, and then the employes set upon him, assaulted him brutally, as he alleges, took the birds from him, and finally stopped the train and threw him off. This was in the middle of the desert, far from any human habitation. Smith climbed back upon the train three several times, being thrown off each time, but was at last allowed to stay aboard and to ride through to his destination. Arriving there he demanded his birds, and was given them, but only upon the payment by him of $2 50. He, therefore, prays the court for damages in the sum of $5000.

Smith's Birds.

William R. Smith of this city has brought suit in Los Angeles against the Southern Pacific Company for $5000 damages because he was ejected from a train upon refusal to surrender to a brakeman a box of birds he had with him in the car.

There's nothing like it

"Last spring, being very much run down and debilitated, I procured some of Paine's Celery Compound. The use of two bottles made me feel like a new man. As a general tonic and spring medicine, I do not know its equal." W. L. GREENLEAF, Brigadier General V. N. G., Burlington, Vt. $1.00. Six for $5.00. At Druggists.

Use It Now!

"Having used your Paine's Celery Compound this spring, I can safely recommend it as the most powerful and at the same time mild, gentle regulator. It is a splendid nerve tonic, and since taking it have felt like a new man." R. E. KNOKE, Waterto n, Dakota.

Take the Chinaman Out.

Chief Justice Beatty yesterday granted a writ of habeas corpus, returnable before himself tomorrow, directing the Sheriff of this county to produce Jim Ham, convicted of smoking opium. Attorney Coffey of San Francisco, who represented the Chinaman, at once hurried over to Justice Snook's court and surrendered his client. "It's more than any court can do," he said, "is to take a man out of jail when he isn't in it, so, if you please, we'll just clap him in jail nice and snug, so we can habeas corpus him." Jim Ham had been tried and convicted and sentenced, but the execution of the sentence was deferred pending the issue of the writ of habeas corpus, and in the interval he was out on the recognizance of his attorney.

Disease and Death

Force their way into many a household that might be protected from their inroads, by the simple precaution of keeping in the house that benign family medicine and safeguard of health, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Particularly where there are children, should it be kept on hand, as a prompt remedy for infantile complaints, in their outset easily conquerable, but which, if allowed to engraft themselves on the delicate childish organism, are not easily dislodged, and speedily work grievous mischief. Irregularity of the bowels, indigestion and biliousness, are ailments of common occurrence in the household. Children, living in malarious regions, are more liable to be attacked with chills and fever than adults, and the ravages of that fell disease in their system are speedier and more serious. In remote localities, far from professional aid, it is especially desirable.

City Sanitation.

There is nothing like an epidemic to bring a city to the point of thorough and effective work in the way of general sanitation. The bitter lesson is learned thoroughly and is not forgotten for a long time. It would be a great thing if other cities which have not had the same terrible taskmaster standing over them with a scourge could be brought to learn from sorrowful experience of cities like Jacksonville and Memphis, and therefore it seems worth while to make some extracts from the report of the Jacksonville Auxiliary Sanitary Association, which has just been issued and details the history of the yellow fever epidemic of last year. From the report we learn that prior to the breaking out of the epidemic there was a feeling of false security and a belief that the sanitary condition of the town was good. This was unfortunately encouraged by articles in the local press, which does not appear to have done its duty. The assertion was made that the city was proof against the introduction and spread of disease by reason of its absolute cleanliness. For instance, the Times-Union said on April 22d of last year:

> The Sanitary Inspectors, under the management of Dr. Penworthy, are hard at work placing the entire city in the best possible sanitary condition. East Jacksonville, LaVilla, Brooklyn, and Hansontown have had special attention. All the brush, trash, etc., has been burned or carted away, and a careful inspection made of the premises of nearly every house. The work is being rapidly carried on, and in a very short time the city will present as clean streets and yards as can be found in any city in the South.

Similar extracts may be found in plenty in the files prior to the outbreak, but the views of the press took on a very radical change after the harm was done. Thus:

> People in other cities, and especially in south Florida, in recollection of the strictures of the Jacksonville daily press on their sanitary condition at the time the yellow fever broke out in Tampa and Key West, are fully justifiable in their retaliation at the present time. With a Health Officer at $2000 per annum, and nine assistants at $580 each per annum, we have been hugging the delusion to our breasts that no cleaner city than Jacksonville was in existence. The last two weeks has demonstrated its fallacy, for hundreds of cart loads of trash have been removed from back yards, and the work goes bravely on.

The real work of sanitation was not begun until the epidemic was in full swing, and it soon showed how ineffective and merely perfunctory had been the previous work. Immunity from epidemic encourages a feeling of false security everywhere. We do not believe that Oakland is immediately threatened with any sort of epidemic, although we have in fact a great deal more diphtheria and zymotic diseases than we ought. An epidemic of diphtheria would decimate the children, and all the conditions are present in certain parts of the city.

A NEW phase of the color line difficulty arises in the Ancient Order of Foresters, a benevolent society originating in England and now having a large membership in this country. The American lodges have refused to admit negroes, and the matter being appealed to the High Court of the order in England it was decided that such exclusion was inconsistent with the rules of the body. The American branch was ordered to rescind the resolution declaring people of the negro race ineligible to membership. The American branch refused and was suspended. Feeling runs very high, and the next step will probably be the secession of the home body from the English jurisdiction. The order has now 51,[illegible] members in the United States.

THIRTEEN Southern States, including Missouri and Kentucky, carry more than two-thirds of all the State debts of the Union. The other twenty-five States owe less than $48,000,000, while the total for the Southern States is $96,158,643. Of this sum Virginia owes $23,550,65[illegible], but as Virginia does not pay her debts this is of less consequence.

A QUEER printer's error, or possibly an editorial error, marks the description of the monument to President Arthur, published by a contemporary. We are informed that the monument "rests upon a plant [illegible] smoothly dressed granite." The granite plant might seem to be a new mineral vegetable, but most people prefer a plinth.

THE commission which met on Monday to purchase for the United States the lands which the Sioux Indians have for sale will probably get the lands, and we are likely to see another boom of the Oklahoma sort on a much larger scale. It is expected that by August or September probably this tract, which is about 11,000,000 acres, will open for settlement on proclamation by the President. It is only half of the Sioux reservation, which contains in all 22,010,043 acres. The southern boundary of the reservation is the Niobrara river, in Nebraska; its eastern, the Missouri; its northern, the Cannon Ball, which flows a few miles south of Bismarck, N. D.; and its western, the 103d meridian, which runs through the Black Hills. The tract is about six times as large as Oklahoma, with a healthful climate and a fertile soil.

THE Los Angeles charter contains the somewhat unusual provision that the city funds shall be deposited with the bank offering the most interest, and the Council accordingly asked for bids. Only one bank wanted the money and that was a savings bank. It would seem from this that the banks of Los Angeles are afraid to handle much money in the present condition of business there. As a matter of fact they have almost given up the practice of loaning money on real estate because values are so uncertain.

THE way of the transgressor is hard. The Rev. G. W. James, having shaken the dust of Santa Monica from his feet with scorn, has been sojourning in the Fresno village of Oleander, where it seems he has been exhibiting himself on the streets with no other covering than that of night. Naturally enough the people concluded that they had seen enough of Mr. James and ordered him to leave, unless he desired to depart later as an assisted emigrant.

SACRAMENTO, like Oakland, is troubled about its school census, which shows a falling off of 1500 children since last year. The fact is that the school census system as at present managed works hardly against all cities of more than 25,000 population, and they are consequently the sufferers when it comes to making the apportionment of the State School fund.

THEY DISAPPEARED.

A Cruel Colored Man Escapes the Law.

Yesterday afternoon a man rushed to the County Jail and informed Jailer Morrison that a colored man was killing a woman in a house on Third street, near Clay street. The report was sent to the Sheriff's office and Under Sheriff Harlow and Deputies Harrison and Jamieson were quickly on the scene. The man and woman had mysteriously disappeared, however, and no traces of them could be found. From inquiry among the neighbors it was ascertained that the colored man was amusing himself by knocking the woman down. A neighbor interfered and reproached him for his conduct, and he was also knocked down. The colored people were warned of the approach of the officers, and made their escape. The woman evidently did not care to prosecute.

He has the Utmost Confidence in it.

"I have one of your watches and have the utmost confidence in its time-keeping qualities, as it has come up fully to your recommendation. I never have to change the hands and it is correct to the minute. I joined your watch club and was the first man to get a watch. I think it one of the best plans to get a watch ever put before the public. I pay my dollar a week and never miss the money, and I advise every young man to join one of your clubs and get a watch, as they will spend the money for something else sure. This way they get a gold watch for $52, (worth every cent of it) and only pay $1 a week.

Yes, that is what they all say, that they are perfectly satisfied with our watches, and that they never miss the $1 a week that they pay for them. Saturday, June 1st, we had a drawing in ten clubs, which were organized in eight weeks. That represents a sale of over $27,000 worth of watches. So you see our extremely large sales enable us to sell you a watch for $52 that a regular dealer would charge you $60 or $65. for. Join now! Save money! Gold watch $1 a week.

Trousers for the Monk.

During the past week or so, an Italian organ grinder has made the vicinity of Ninth street and Broadway hideous with his squeaky organ. He has attracted the children in dozens with the little monkey dressed as a French Dude. And right here it might be said that the miniature clothes worn by this little animal, were made by Joe Lancaster, the artist tailor. Joe can make clothes of any size and style, and his work is the best in the city. Lancaster's shop is at the corner of Tenth and Washington streets.

A Fact

WORTH knowing is that blood diseases which all other remedies fail to cure, yield to Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Fresh confirmation of this statement comes to hand daily. Even such deep-seated and stubborn complaints as Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, and the like, are thoroughly eradicated by the use of this wonderful alterative.

Mrs. R. Irving Dodge, 110 West 125th street, New York, certifies:—

"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gout, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief, I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I then decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it regularly for eight months. I am pleased to say that it effected a complete cure, and that I have since had no return of the disease."

Mrs. L. A. Stark, Nashua, N. H., writes: "One year ago I was taken ill with rheumatism, being confined to my house six months. I came out of the sickness very much debilitated, with no appetite, and my system disordered in every way. I commenced to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla and began to improve at once, gaining in strength and soon recovering my usual health. I cannot say too much in praise of this well-known medicine."

"I have taken a great deal of medicine, but nothing has done me so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I felt its beneficial effects before I had quite finished one bottle, and I can freely testify that it is the best blood-medicine I know of."—L. W. Ward, Sr., Woodland, Texas.

TRICKLE, TRICKLE

The Wanderings of the Cart That Sprinkle

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS A MONTH.

The Immense Cost to the City for Saving Macadam From Blowing Away in Fine Dust.

The way of the street sprinkler is peculiar, and Deputy Street Superintendent Benjamin is beginning to discover this. Mr. Benjamin made this discovery some time ago, when he began to figure on the sprinkling reports handed to him by the enterprising sprinklers.

But right here, the better to understand this, it will be necessary to explain what a street sprinkler is. A street sprinkler is generally a man. He is also the owner of a team of horses and a sprinkling cart. For the use of these, and for a full day's work of nine hours, trickling water upon the streets of Oakland, he receives $3 25. The city pays for the water at the rate of 25 cents per 1000 gallons when there is money in the water fund, and the sprinkler makes a monthly report to the Superintendent of Streets, showing the number of days he worked and the number of loads of water he sprinkled upon the streets during the month. Upon this report is based the payment of the sprinkler and the payment to the water company, and it can easily be seen how necessary it is to have correct reports from the sprinklers.

Well, the reports came in this month. There were twenty of them. Mr. Benjamin sat himself down and began to figure. Here was one man. He had the Broadway route, where there is a hydrant on every corner, and the driver of that route was regarded as one of the most trustworthy men in the employ of the city. He reported from 29 to 32 loads per day. The next report was from a man in the suburbs. He reported from 39 to 43 loads per day.

Then Mr. Benjamin scratched his head and did a little figuring. The best drivers say that if a man has three loads per hour he does a good hour's work. This, of course, includes filling the cart and distributing the water at a steady regular rate. The old experienced men also say that a man who loads and distributes four cart loads of water in an hour is doing very fast work, and if more than that is done they must run their horses, and the water is not well distributed.

Forty-three loads. That is nearly five loads an hour. Those loads cost 17½ cents each. Seventeen and one half cents per load for one load per hour, or nine loads per day would make $1 57 per day, $9 45 per week, or about $38 for the eight months in which the cars are employed. If ten drivers out of the twenty employed should do the same they would cost the city in the year about $3000.

But that is not all. Mr. Benjamin and Street Superintendent Wall took a look over the report, and they began to find some considerable errors, if nothing else. Here was one man. He reported thirty-four loads of water distributed on Memorial Day. Memorial Day was a holiday. On holidays, as on Sundays, the men quit at 3 P. M., having one hour for dinner, working but seven hours. Mr. Benjamin asked this man if he had worked all day.

"Oh, no," he responded, cheerfully.

"How is it that you distributed thirty-four loads on that day?"

He wasn't quite sure, and finally came to the conclusion that it must have been a mistake. Then he referred to a little book, and then remembered that it must have been twenty-four loads that he hauled, not that he kept any tally, but that he remembered how many.

There was $1 75 saved.

They made their way further down the list of reports. Here was a man who had charged a full day's work and some thirty-two cart loads on a day that rain had fallen. Another had charged a full day when he had worked but half. One man had reported two half days' work that he never performed, and they were promptly erased. One man reported thirty and thirty-two loads every other day, and it was very evident, from the monotonous regularity of these figures that he had averaged his work and that he had not kept a careful daily tally. The reports were carefully examined, and the attention of the drivers was called to errors and discrepancies. Some were corrected by the drivers, and finally the whole thing was footed up.

It showed that 8,069,282 gallons of water had been used, which represented 13,514 loads. This water cost 25 cents per thousand gallons, or a total cost of $2002 32. The labor for distributing this water cost the city $1433 30, or a total of $3435 62 to sprinkle four streets in May.

"And May was a short month," said Mr. Benjamin. "There were several rainy days, and the work of each man averaged a little less than twenty-three days for the month. For a full month the cost of water, at this rate, would be about $2600.

But there is one thing that is evident, some of the drivers of sprinkling carts are not careful; it is evident they are not keeping a correct, daily tally of the loads distributed, and their guesses at their report. This guessing is generally more and seldom less. Evidently it is not correct. Then there are some statements of time that are not correct. There are portions of days reported that were never worked, and the balance is always in favor of the driver. Then, during one of the rainy days last month, Mr. Wall found a man out during a heavy rain industriously sprinkling the streets. Whether the errors are due to negligence, or whether to ignorance, remains to be seen. Certainly the city pays for more than it gets. The question is, how much?

There can be no blame attached to the office of the Street Department, because of the extremely limited means at his command. Mr. Wall and Mr. Benjamin both do all they can to prevent any irregularity, and they cannot keep much check when they are allowed no assistance and when there is so much street work to attend to as at present.

Ham's Habeas Corpus.

Jim Ham was recently convicted in Justice Hancock's court of smoking opium and was fined $40. VITAL STATISTICS.

A Letter to Physicians from the Superintendent of Census.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
CENSUS OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 1, 1889.

The Superintendent of the Census requests publication of the following letter:

To the Medical Profession: The various medical associations and the medical profession will be glad to learn that Dr. John S. Billings, Surgeon U. S. Army, has consented to take charge of the Report on the Mortality and Vital Statistics of the United States as returned by the Eleventh Census.

As the United States has no system of registration of vital statistics, such as is relied upon by other civilized nations for the purpose of ascertaining the actual movement of population, our census affords the only opportunity of obtaining near an approximate estimate of the birth and death rates of much the larger part of the country, which is entirely unprovided with any satisfactory system of State and municipal registration.

In view of this, the Census Office, during the month of May this year, will issue to the medical profession throughout the country "Physician's Registers" for the purpose of obtaining more accurate returns of deaths than it is possible for the enumerators to make. It is earnestly hoped that physicians in every part of the country will co-operate with the Census Office in this important work. The record should be kept from June 1, 1889, to May 31, 1890. Nearly 26,000 of these registration books were filled up and returned to the office in 1880, and nearly all of them used for statistical purposes. It is hoped that double this number will be obtained for the Eleventh Census.

Physicians not receiving registers can obtain them by sending their names and addresses to the Census Office, and, with the register, an official envelope, which requires no stamp, will be provided for their return to Washington.

If all medical and surgical practitioners throughout the country will lend their aid, the mortality and vital statistics of the Eleventh Census will be more comprehensive and complete than they have ever been. Every physician should take a personal pride in having his report as full and as accurate as it is possible to make it.

It is hereby promised that all information obtained through this source shall be held strictly confidential.

ROBERT P. PORTER,
Superintendent of Census.

I HAVE been troubled with chronic sore eyes for forty-five years, and during that time I have used many different remedies, but have never found any that seemed to do me any good until I procured a box of Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment. I have used only about one-third of the box, and can truthfully say, I have never had my eyes feel as well, nor look as well as they do now. I expect to cure them entirely with the Ointment. Weak Women.

The more sensitive nature of the female sex renders women much more susceptible than men to those numerous ills which spring from a lack of harmony in the system. The nervous system gives way, sick headaches are frequent, the appetite is lost, and other ailments peculiar to the sex cause great suffering. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for such cases and has received the most gratifying praise for the relief it has afforded thousands of women whose very existence before taking it, was only misery. It strengthens the nerves, cures sick headache and indigestion, purifies and vitalizes the blood, and gives regular and healthy action to every organ in the body.

ONE MILLION.

The Value of New Buildings Begun this Year.

CONTINUOUS GROWTH OF THE CITY

Nearly Four Hundred New Houses During the First Five Months of the Year 1889.

There is no cessation in the activity of building operations which has prevailed since the advent of the year. Rather a notable increase is apparent in the northern and eastern portions of the city, while the central districts are being improved by the erection of fine business blocks and flats. Irregularity and uncertainty in the lumber market with prices acknowledged as too high have not been of sufficient detriment to retard investment in new structures. The prediction made by THE TRIBUNE at the opening of the year that a thousand houses would be built in Oakland during 1889 will be fully verified, basing judgment upon the details given in these columns. The number may and is likely to reach 1200. More than a million dollars have been invested in improvement during the five months ending with the May report.

REAL ESTATE.

The market maintains its usual equable state with a healthy activity and normal advance for the more desirable offers. Central first class business property is unattainable except at fancy prices. Residence property within reasonable distance of car lines is selling daily at advancing prices.

The number of deeds placed on record during the half month closing this record is 218. Value represented unknown for reasons heretofore stated. The number of mortgages recorded is 129, for an aggregate sum of $ 92,500.

Among the recent sales are lots 5 and 6, in block E, Oakland township homestead, by M. B. Reynolds to J. B. Nye for $3000.

Joseph Gibson has purchased two lots on Kennedy and Frederick streets East Oakland, where he intends to erect a residence soon.

George Schmidt has sold to Charles A. Bailey parts of blocks 104, 117 and 119, in Berkeley Land and Town Improvement Association, for $10,500.

John Cameron has sold to S. J. Peacock a house and lot on Sixth avenue near East Eighteenth street, for $4500.

A sale of 13¼ acres in plot 51, Ashby tract, is announced from Hypolite Dutard to Charles A. Baily, for $16,000.

J. H. Macdonald & Co. report inquiry as more than usually frequent, and have made a number of sales, mostly for immediate improvement. The market will stiffen as the season advances.

A. C. Gilbert & Co., on Eighth street, have made sales of lots and dwellings, and believe that more cottages could readily be rented or sold on installments if erected. The city, with a little rapid building, lacks dwellings.

Scotchler & Gottshall say that Berkeley and suburban property is selling at a lively rate, and prices are certain to advance during the summer and fall months.

Benedict, Capell & Co., real estate agents, say that business with them for the month of May has shown a marked increase over the preceding month. Several sales made by them have already been made public. They have made contracts since of a number of valuable pieces, some of which may not be closed this month, and as they only give particulars after deeds are passed the names of buyers are withheld. Great activity in building is noted on residence property for owner's use especially in East Oakland.

J. W. Moss reports increased activity and a constant demand for dwellings to rent and for residence lots in the suburbs if easily accessible. He is confident of a surprising growth and advance in price.

BUILDING IN THE CENTRAL DISTRICT.

The report shows substantial improvement, embracing residences, flats and business structures of a superior class, footing up in value nearly $50,000, a good showing for a single half month.

V. B. Raymond is building, and has near completion, a well designed flat fifty by eighty-two feet in ground dimensions, embracing two suites of six large and several small rooms, with all recently devised conveniences. It is located on the north side of Ninth street, between Alice and Harrison streets. L. H. Long is the contractor and the cost will be about $7,000.

Mrs. M. J. Jones has nearing completion four six room cottages, with basement, bay windows, bath, closets, etc on the south side of Jones street, between Telegraph avenue and Grove street. The cost will be $ 750 each—$7000. D. C. Scanlan has the contract.

J. T. Dille is building for his own account a business and residence block on the northeast corner of Market and Eleventh streets. It comprises four stores and four flats of six rooms each, with all hygienic appliances. It fronts on Market street. This is an important addition to the business facilities of that rapidly improving street. Charles Mau is the architect, and the cost will be $12,000.

A handsome modern-built cottage of eight rooms is nearing completion by Mrs. Lizzie Hanrahan on Alice street, southwest corner of Fourth street, at a cost of $2000. L. W. Macomber is contractor.

William Watkinson has commenced the erection of a two-story double flat, 26 by 54½ feet, of eleven rooms, on the west side of Harrison, between Fifth and Sixth streets. It will have a brick foundation, front and side bay windows and all modern improvements. Charles Roesch is the contractor. The cost will be $3000.

WESTERN AND NORTHERN.

R. E. Morey is building a large two-story residence of nine principal and several minor rooms, square bay window, brick foundation and with all modern improvements. Location, north side of Twenty-eighth street, between Market and Myrtle streets. Taylor & Moore contractors. The cost is to be $5500.

A substantial improvement is in progress by William Christian on Seventh street, south side, between Wood and Pine streets. It is a two story and basement, with brick foundation and mansard. There are two stores below and eleven rooms above. It is being built by days' work, under charge of J. C. Johnson. The cost will be $2700.

W. H. Martin, contractor and owner, is completing his handsome eight room two story residence on the south side of Union street, between Tenth and Eleventh streets, at a cost of $2900 each.

Tribbey has built for his own occupancy a neat five room cottage with basement on the south side of Goss street, between Willow and Wood streets, at a cost of $1800.

A. Millman, contractor, has nearly completed a handsome modern cottage of five rooms on the south side of Goss street, between Wood and Willow streets, at a cost of $2200. Owner, James De La Montanya, San Francisco.

James De La Montanya, the millionaire plumber of San Francisco, who has already built nearly a block of cottages at the Point, is building a large store of brick, 25x65 feet, and two stories on the north side of Seventh street, between Willow and Wood, eight large living rooms and an expansive square bay window above. A. Millman is the contractor; cost, $5000.

EAST OAKLAND.

The new residence built by W. H. Sigourney on Third avenue, between East Fourteenth and East Fifteenth streets, evokes general admiration. It is beautiful because it combines harmony of detail with richness of material and faultless execution. The windows are of plate glass, the staircase illumined by art glass in tasty designs, the floors are of hard wood, and the interior is finished in natural woods throughout. W. H. Weilbye is the architect and builder. The cost will be $10,000.

Cleveland & Hopkins are building a nice cottage of five rooms with modern improvements, on the corner of Valdez and Dennison streets, near the cotton mills, at a cost of $1700.

G. F. Crist, tanner and capitalist, is building for his son a dwelling of handsome design on East Fourteenth street, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second avenues. It has brick basement and cellar with modern improvements. George W. Flick is the contractor, and the cost is placed at $3500.

A NEW ENTERPRISE.

The American Plaster Board Company, Thomas Wilkinson manager, is building warehouses and factory on East Fourteenth street, corner of Seventeenth avevenue. The buildings are three one story frames, each 14 by 110 feet and one 18 by 72 feet, costing some $2000.

SUBURBAN.

Relatively the growth of outlying districts is more to be remarked than that of the city proper. From the bay to the foothills and far up those sightly elevations, that a grasp of the picturesque scenery may be secured, cottages and villas are rising on every side. Plain, valley, and hill side, each has its admirers, and the work of populating them all goes continually on.

G. D. Metcalf is building at College Way and Oxford street, Berkeley, two handsome eight room cottages to cost $3000 each. Robert Smillie is the contractor. W. S. Odle is superintendent of construction.

The new home mansion of L. E. White of San Francisco is located on the corner of Ellsworth and Ward streets, between Newbury and Dwight way stations. This will be a fine structure of modern gothic architecture, with an ornamental tower, canopies and elaborate friezes and cornices. Robert Smillie is the contractor, and W. S. Odle superintendent. The cost will be $7500.

Robert Smillie is building for L. E. White three cottages of eight rooms, complete in all their appointments, on the north side of Ward street, east of Fulton. These have concrete foundations, basement and cellar. W. S. Odle has charge of construction. The cost will be $3000 each—$9000.

The same contractor and superintendent are building for William McClure, on Bancroft way and Fulton streets, an eight room cottage to cost $3000; also, a cottage, almost an exact duplicate of the above, for Mr. Moore, the architect, on Fulton and Kittridge streets, Berkeley.

EXTENSIVE BUILDERS.

In conversation with A. W. Pattiani it was learned that many improvements are being made by his firm in Alameda and Berkeley. House No. 159 has just been completed for E. C. Henkenius on Paru street, Alameda, at a cost of $3550. H. V. Herbert's residence has been substantially rebuilt at a cost of $2500, many of the decorations being entirely new in character. House No. 163 is an elegant two-story cottage on Central avenue, Alameda, for H. B. Smith, built at a cost of $5750, and now receiving its finishing touches. Houses Nos. 161 and 165, for J. H. Lawton, Berkeley, are nearly complete. The cost of these will be $1850 and $3250. House No. 167 is a handsome two story residence on Regent street, in the Queen Anne style of architecture, for City Attorney Edward K. Taylor, Alameda, $4000. House No. 169 is an unique residence of nine rooms at Morton street station for H. Mohus, an old resident of Alameda. It will cost about $1000. No. 170 is a spacious cottage of eight rooms, with all modern improvements, to be built on the corner of Van Buren and Court streets, at a cost of $3250, for Captain Politeo.

The firm is also building largely at El Verano, having contracts for many residences and business houses, with more to follow, and all to be completed before the drawing in May, 1890.

This firm has also upon the boards five additional plans, three of which are for Alameda. The numerous and substantial improvements going on remind them of the best old times of Oakland and the coast.

RAPID GROWTH OF LORIN.

Of the numerous thriving suburbs of Oakland none are advancing in wealth and population so rapidly as Lorin. The wonderful growth of all the northern and eastern suburbs which is attracting the attention of seekers for investment or of business and homes is largely due to the extension of facilities for quick transit. The local road to Berkeley affords this to the northward, and the Oakland local to the eastward. The prospective extension of the San Pablo avenue cable line and of the regular running of trains at short intervals on the California and Nevada Railroad greatly stimulates investments and improvements in all that broad expanse of beautiful outlying lands between Temescal and Berkeley, while the residents of the extreme eastern limits of the city and beyond are hopeful of a line of cable road from Sixteenth street station out Fourteenth street to High street, promised to be built at an early day.

A HALL AND BUSINESS BLOCKS.

At Lorin, James Dwyer has in a forward state, near completion, on the corner of Adeline street and Alcatraz avenue, a two-story frame building, 60x63 feet. The first floor will comprise two large stores, and the second a spacious lofty hall for public uses, with ante rooms, refreshment rooms and all modern conveniences. B. Peterson is the architect. Cost, $6500.

Gad Aylwin is building a two-story business house, 24x60 feet, fronting on Adeline street, near Alcatraz avenue. It will comprise a store below, with suites of dwelling rooms above. L. H. Long is the contractor and the cost will be $2500.

A. Roust, owner and builder, is erecting a handsome modern cottage of six rooms with basement, bay windows and modern improvements, on Fairview street, near Calais, at a cost of $3500.

George Conway is building a five-room cottage on the south side of Fairview street, near Calais, at a cost of $2400. A. Johnson, contractor.

The same contractor has finished for Captain Bennett a spacious and handsome six-room cottage on Prince street, near Calais, at a cost of $2900, and on the corner of Calais street and Taylor, a large and elegant two-story residence for Mrs. Wright, which cost $3800.

NOTES.

A new ornamental front has been built by F. T. Johnson to his cottage on Seventh street, between Adeline and Magnolia, at a cost of $1000.

Two old and decaying frames on the south side of Seventh street, between Pine and Wood streets, owned by Thomas Macdonald, are to be removed, and a fine, modern business block built in their place. The frontage is 49 feet.

Two very good stores have been made up Higgins & Collins of San Francisco, by raising the one-story frame on the north side of Seventh street, near Wood, and building beneath, at a cost of $1000.

John P. Donnell has rebuilt his premises on Seventh street, between Chester and Henry streets, making a store, with family rooms above. The cost will be about $1500.

Work upon the old Vinzent block now the property of Dr. Samuel Merritt at the junction of Market, West and Seventh streets, will be commenced at once. The improvement will consist of an additional story of brick throughout the entire length, 200 feet. John Vallian will superintend the work.

SUMMARY.

The number of buildings erected since January 1st, and previously reported is 343, valued at $869,000. The number embraced in the present semi-monthly report is 50, valuation $164,000, aggregate 393, total valuation $1,033,000.

A Great Battle

is continually going on in the human system. The demon of impure blood strives to gain victory over the constitution, to ruin health, to drag victims to the grave. A good reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla is the weapon with which to defend one's self, drive the desperate enemy from the field, and restore peace and bodily health for many years. Try this peculiar medicine.

Freddie is Home.

Freddie O'Conner, the son of P. J. O'Conner, the merchant tailor of this city, got tired of going to school, and he decided to run away, and about three months ago he left the parental roof and repaired to the water front of San Francisco. Since that time he has been knocking around the wharves, and has made a trip or two on a sailing vessel as cabin boy up and down the coast.

Tuesday he was captured by the harbor police in San Francisco and sent home.

"Oh, yes," said Mr. O'Conner to a reporter, "yes, Freddie has come home," and Mr. O'Conner looked as if he considered the matter of too little importance to pay much attention to. "He was just a little wild. A boy of 14 is just like a runaway horse. They run without knowing where they are going. When they get tired and starved they come home. Freddie didn't like to go to school, and so he ran away. I just gave a description of him to the police, and gave them authority to arrest him. Now he is home."

SKEPTICISM was routed when the people knew the virtues of Somerton Nervine. No cure no pay. $1.50.

An Epidemic of Whooping Cough.

During an epidemic of whooping cough at De Witt, Iowa, a prominent family there bought a fifty cent bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for their children. It proved so satisfactory that they recommended it to their neighbors; and they in turn to others in less than a week's time the druggist Mr. C. V. Baxter, was having an immense run on it. The remedy is still the main reliance in that vicinity for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Mr. Baxter says: "It sells on its merits." For sale by WEITMAN & HENRY, 1170 Broadway.

Thrown from a Sulky.

Mr. Wm. Westlake, a prominent farmer and breeder of thoroughbred horses, living near Avoca, Neb. was so badly injured by being thrown from his sulky, as to be unable to raise his hand to his head. After using numerous liniments and consulting several physicians, without getting any relief, he asked me if I knew of anything that would help him. I recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm which he used, and within two weeks he had entirely recovered the use of his arm. I consider Chamberlain's Pain Balm the greatest preparation ever produced for sprains, bruises, deep seated and muscular pains, burns and scalds. J. J. THE WORLD.

Trying to Count the Dead at Johnstown.

Secretary Halford's Wife Was on the Wrecked Train.

Special to The Oakland Tribune by Western Associated Press.

JOHNSTOWN, June 6.—Doubt i being expressed as to the estimate that from 12,000 to 15,000 persons were los in the flooded district. Of course there is no way of determining with any degree of exactitude, but the guessing is reasonable and conservative, and is based on close figuring. At least 2500 bodies have been found. There are 2000 at the lowest calculation in the burned debris in the river, 3000 in the unsearched sand banks around the Cambria works, down along the river, and in the lower part of Johnstown, from one to two thousan d scattered in the valley from Woodville to the bridge and a thousand or two below the bridge, between Johnstown and Bolivar. Hundreds were carried down to the broad rivers in the tremendous current, and may never come into the hand of the living. Said Adjutant General Hastings this morning: "In my opinion the loss is greater than we can now show figures for." The Altoona delegation, who have been all over the district since Sunday morning, say the loss is 12,000 to 14,000 and bases it on a talk with, scores of all sorts of people The utter sense of former residents and of the fixed and familiar population is most striking. There are thousands of strangers and workmen from a distance, but for the three first days the one perpetual question was, "Where are the people? There are about 19,000. Where are the rest?"

Thirty unidentified bodies are at the Fourth ward school house. During the past twenty-four hours sixty bodies were embalmed and taken from this place. This morning five bodies were brought in. One of them is that of Oscar Hennekamp, for whose recovery a large reward was offered. A cordon of soldiers will be stationed around the town, and nobody allowed to enter it without a pass.

A CENSUS OF THE DEAD.

A Relief Committee Corps Systematically at Work.

JOHNSTOWN, June 6.—The real work of ascertaining what the living and the dead of Johnstown are started this morning. A corps of clerks, under the direction of the Relief Committee will go to every house in the vicinity to secure the names of the living. Another corps will ride over to find out who the missing are. A revision of the register list shows only 15,000 people registered to 1 o'clock this afternoon. By this it is plainly apparent that a large number of survivors will not take the trouble to register. The great number of bodies not identified seems almost incredible. Some of these have lain in two different morgues for four days. At Nineveh they are burying all their unidentified dead, but in the morgues in this vicinity no bodies have been buried unless identified.

EVEN THE UNDERTAKERS

Driven Out by the Odor of the Decaying Bodies.

JOHNSTOWN, June 6.—Even the undertakers are unable to remain at work in the Fourth ward morgue this morning, owing to the stench. Forty bodies in the small schoolroom all unknown were taken from the room and placed in the front yard. They will be kept a day or two longer, but in the opinion decomposition will set in very soon. Four bodies were found near the stone bridge this morning. The body of Benjamin Hoffman, his daughter, 20 years of age, and a 3 year old child were found in the large family residence.

NOT LOST.

Secretary Halford's Wife and a Railroad Official.

CHICAGO, June 6.—A telegram dated at Bedford, Pa., June 5th, from W. S. Mellen, general manager-elect of the Northern Pacific Railroad, was received here today. Among those mentioned as with him are Mrs. Halford, wife of President Harrison's Secretary and a lady named Gertrude, supposed to be Mellen's wife.

BRINGING FOOD.

Governor Beaver Tells What Is Being Done.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 6.—Governor Beaver says: "We succeeded in cacheing Williamsport last evening with carloads of provisions by ferrying the river twice. This averts the present danger of lack of food. The area of the flooded district increases. The city of Lockhaven is in a distressing plight. The city is entirely covered with water, and the provisions and other supplies are utterly ruined. Both cities need supplies, clothing of all kinds, and bedding."

FEMALE FIENDS

The Came to Prey on the Necessities of Young Women.

JOHNSTOWN, June 6.—Several procuresses, who hoped to prey on the unfortunate young women, arrived last night. The police were informed and all suspicious characters were notified to leave town. Up to noon 728 bodies had been embalmed at Cambria City. A number of bodies were taken from the debris at Conemaugh this morning.

LOS ANGELES.

Will Send $10,000 to the Johnstown Sufferers.

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—This city is working promptly and vigorously in the matter of raising funds to send to Johnstown sufferers, and the indications are that $10,000, and probably more will be forwarded.

BEATING THE GAME.

Civil Service Examinations Fraudulently Conducted in New York.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The following explains itself: "The Civil Service Commission, having concluded in part its investigation into the recent management of the New York Custom House, find that the recent management of examinations for admission have been characterized by great laxity and negligence, and on the part of some of the custom house employes by positive fraud; that the applicants sometimes found out questions in advance owing to the loose way of conducting the examinations, and have sometimes been given examination papers beforehand by the Custom House employes for personal, political, or pecuniary considerations." The report adds that there is evidence that persons without political influence, who passed the examinations, had little chance of securing positions.

CHURCH'S CHECK.

A Certified Order for a Little Two Thousand.

Jesse Yoakum was brought to the courthouse yesterday to swear to a complaint charging the two Churches, Harry Jr. and Ed., with an assault with a deadly weapon. He was brought in on a stretcher, but as he did not see Church strike him he was unable to swear to the complaint, and as the affair occurred inside of the city limits the county authorities had no jurisdiction.

Therefore Yoakum's friend Wyman came to town last night, swore to a warrant charging both the Churches with assault with a deadly weapon upon Yoakum.

The two heard that warrants had been issued for their arrest and this morning they appeared in the Police Court and surrendered themselves into custody. Then Baby O'Connell took the older Church out to get bail. First he deposited with the baby a certified check for $2000, which was turned over to Clerk O'Brien. Then Church obtained bonds in the sum of $2500 with J. C. Bell and J. H. Jowall as his sureties, and the two walked out. They will plead tomorrow.

J. H. Church Sr. says that he had nothing to do with the case at all. His son will make no statement.

Pacific Lodge Festivities.

Pacific Lodge, No. 7, of Workmen will entertain its friends to-night at the lodgeroom, corner of Twelfth and Franklin streets.

Charles G. Reed will deliver an interesting lecture on "Roses," and a very interesting programme will be carried out.

The evening will be devoted by the members to entertaining their lady friends. The doors will be opened at 8 o'clock.

Necrology.

Raymond Barker, youngest son of Eliza and the late Samuel Barker, aged 4 years, died yesterday at the residence in East Oakland.

Harmon Knox Chittenden, a native of New York, died last evening at his residence. The funeral will take place to-morrow from the funeral parlors of Albert Brown.

A Non-Resident Appointed.

It has been said that one of the policemen recently appointed by the Board of Public Works is not a citizen. However, if the names appear on the Great Register all the only irregularity is the fact that Jas Keefe is registered as a resident of Jay precinct, while the charter provides that all officers must be residents and qualified voters of the city for one year preceding their appointment.

West Oakland Improvers.

There will be a meeting this evening at 8 o'clock, at 1359 Peralta street, of the West Oakland Improvement Club for the purpose of permanent organization. All citizens having the welfare of West Oakland at heart are asked to attend.

A Cranky Fiend.

Tim Mahoney, an opium fiend confined in the City Prison, made a fire from splinters and shreds of his mattress in his cell last evening. Probably he is in a state of frenzy because unsupplied with opium.

Liens on His Home.

Liens have been filed on the home of Charles A. Bon at Thirty-seventh street and Telegraph avenue by S. D. Cronin for C. O. E. Bigelow, for $28 75; Henry W. Taylor, $507 55; Richard Challener, $156. Mr. Bon has been married but a short time.

Power of Attorney.

John Wesley Day has given a special power of attorney to David Symons.

A STRANGE REASON.

A Queer Explanation For Not Re-Electing a School Teacher.

Miss Standeford was a teacher in the Cole school for several years. She is the daughter of D. W. Standeford of Burnham, Standeford & Co. No complaints of any kind were made, and great was the surprise of herself and friends when on Monday evening the City Board of Education did not reelect her to her position. No reason was given. She was quietly dropped without explanation or warning.

Some reason for this unexpected action was sought, and the explanation is most extraordinary. The School Directors say they were informed that Miss Standeford is soon to marry, and hence they did not re-elect. Mr. Marston, President of the Board, says that two ladies called upon him to tell him that they have received invitations to be present at the wedding ceremony.

Whether Miss Standeford expects soon to marry is her business and not a matter for investigation; but certain it is that no invitations have been issued, and that any statement that she does intend to marry is made entirely without the authority of any person who has the right to make it.

An effort will be made to have Miss Standeford reinstated in her position, for the reason given for not re-electing her is plainly a stupid error or dire meliciousness.

Superintendent McClymonds said this morning that the board had evidently acted hastily in the matter. "Statements were made in the board that cards were out for the wedding of Miss Standeford, but it seems that there has been a mistake. The board acted hastily."

REUTER'S CHILDREN.

A Guardian Appointed to Take Care of Their Estate.

William Reuter was an applicant before Judge Greene this morning to be appointed guardian of the estate of the four minor children of Charles Reuter, who was killed while attempting to board a narrow gauge train in Alameda a short time since. The wife of the deceased was present in court and gave her consent to the appointment. Judge Greene made an investigation of the transactions between the petitioner and his brother prior to the death of the latter. It was ascertained that the petitioner had purchased the business of Charles Reuter for $7,000, and had paid him part in cash and the remainder in notes. There is now about $10,000 in the estate which belongs to the children. It is also thought that a considerable sum of money is concealed somewhere. Upon the explanation Judge Greene appointed the petitioner guardian, without requiring bonds in each case. This appointment gives William Reuter the right to administer upon the estate of his brother and the position of the Public Administrator to administer upon the estate will probably be dismissed.

SHE DESERVES NOTHING.

Judge Greene's Comments on the Holland Case.

The case of Mrs. Holland against Detective Dean, Holland, to compel him to pay her $40 a month alimony, was decided by Judge Greene this morning. The court in reviewing the testimony said that in his opinion Mr. Holland was justified in leaving his wife; that the evidence of disinterested witnesses showed that she was untruthful; that she had no respect for herself or her children, and that her treatment of her husband had been shameful and outrageous. In his judgment, she does not deserve a cent of alimony, and the $40 a month which the defendant is willing to pay, ought to go for the support of the cripple child. He also suggested that Mr. Holland should change his boarding place.

It was finally decided that the detective shall pay $40 a month to Attorney McElrath, and out of this sum he shall pay $15 a month to the wife and the remainder for the support and education of the cripple daughter.

AFTER AH SING.

The District Attorney Will Accuse Him of Perjury.

The jury failed to convict Ah Sing, the Chinaman accused of selling lottery tickets. During the trial of the case three white men testified that Ah Sing sold them lottery tickets. The Chinaman then took the witness stand on his own behalf, and positively swore that he had either sold or given away any lottery tickets. District Attorney Reed will file a complaint accusing him of the crime of perjury.

AMUSEMENTS.

A slight change has been made in the order of operas to be given by the Bostonians at the Oakland Theater. On Monday evening Mignon will be sung, and on Tuesday evening Pygmalion and Galatea. This company, undoubtedly the best of its kind in the country, is playing to large audiences at the new California Theater, San Francisco, this week. The company will be at San Jose next Wednesday and already every seat has been booked. The sale of seats here is not so rapid, but a large attendance is expected.

A show of trained dogs will be given at the Oakland Theater on Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday afternoon of this week.

Land Improvers.

The Oakland Land and Improvement Company has elected the following officers to serve for the next year: W. R. Davis, President; W. W. Camron, Vice President and Manager. A. D. Thomsen, Treasurer; Fred Kahn, Secretary; Richard Jones, C. A. Nordhausen, F. A. Leach, D. C. Brown, George Burbeck, J. D. Smith, R. M. Fitzgerald, Directors.

The company was formed on the full tide of the boom to handle the subdivision and sale of the well known Santa Rita rancho, near Pleasanton, which property they bought outright. Several parcels of it has already been sold on very advantageous terms. A portion of the land is Count Giulio Valentin's stock farm. A. T. Hatch has purchased a tract which is now set out in almonds, and W. W. Camron has a fine fruit orchard in another corner. The business of the company amply satisfies them.

A Thimble Social.

This (Thursday) evening the Thimble Society of the Eighth Avenue Methodist Church will give an unique social in the assembly room, corner of Eighth avenue and East Seventeenth street. Their many friends are cordially invited. Refreshments will be served after the programme. They want to make the first payment on their church subscription. Judging from their success at a previous social a large attendance and a good time may be expected.

The Woman in Black.

"The Woman in Black," covered as to face with a thick veil, sat in Judge Laidlaw's court this morning, while Miss Frazer identified certain articles taken from her room. At the time of this burglary the Woman in Black hid in the closet when Miss Frazer entered her room and escaped when the lady descended the stairs. Other witnesses testified and Judge Laidlaw held the defendant to answer, with bail fixed at $300.

A Deadly Fly.

The death of an infant at the Children's Home in West Oakland is said probably to be caused by a bite of a poisonous insect.

A Little Ahead of Time.

A mortgage or deed of trust was placed on record this afternoon, wherein the Alameda County Terminal Railway Company give to the California Title Insurance and Trust Company $50,000 worth of mortgage bonds on the railroad property, to be obtained in this county.

Not So Much.

The loss on the Judson Manufacturing Company's buildings by the Michigan Furniture Company fire on Tuesday morning has been adjusted at $500.

DIRTY LINEN WASHED ABROAD

Pliny Bartlett Looks With Hostile Gaze on the Federated Trades.

The Contra Costa Laundry has come in for its share of consideration by the Federated Trades of San Francisco, which at their last meeting passed this resolution:

WHEREAS, We have been reliably informed that the laundry workers of San Francisco and Oakland, male and female, have been and are being held in such absolute submissiveness as to render them helpless against any and all impositions of tyrannical bosses, who are accumulating fortunes, through the long working hours and poor and insufficient food furnished their employes, and whereas, the sleeping accommodations of employes are in such a crowded condition as to be detrimental to the health of the occupants and in direct violation of all sanitary laws; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we express our just indignation at such a condition of affairs, and request Labor Commissioner Tobin to make an official investigation.

In noting this action on the part of the labor society the Chronicle sent a reporter to look at the Contra Costa Laundry in this city. He found that of the 300 employes half were women and girls; that children no older than 10 years worked for $8 a month; that work began at 7 every morning and continued until 8 or 9 in the evening, and sometimes until 11; that the employes board and lodge in dirty rooms on the premises; that the food is very bad, and that the wages average $20 a month.

Outside the office on Broadway Pliny Bartlett, one of the firm, stood this morning watching the delivery wagon unloading its flimsy parcels of cleaned linen. He was asked to express himself in regard to these statements, but he did not seem communicative and did not appear to think the charges at all worthy of consideration.

"No, indeed, there is no need of talking about it, it's all done by the interference of the league, and it never would have come out in the Chronicle if Mr. De Young had been here; but the managing editor, don't know who he is, has made a big mistake in printing all that stuff for the league."

"What league do you mean, Mr. Bartlett?"

"Why, those workmen over there in San Francisco who got up the disturbance, the Federated Trades. Talk about a reporter visiting the laundry, he didn't, it was all done by that fellow Campbell, a discharged and disgruntled employe, who has been kicked out of every laundry in the two cities."

"Would you be willing to have Mr. Tobin investigate?"

"He can come if he wants to, but I shan't invite him. If he does come I'll give him a good chance to see for himself. In only one thing are we guilty of even a technical violation of the law, and that is in employing minors. We give work to a very few children and only on the urgent request of their parents. Yes, if Tobin wants to come over he may. They say that half of our employes are women and girls. We employ only about 100 women and not more than twenty or twenty-five girls. But there's no use in talking about it; they've made up their minds to lie about us, and you can see by the piece in the Chronicle what sort of justice we are likely to get. Just wait, though, until De Young gets back."

Who Is "Jane Smith?"

She is an elederly woman and well dressed, but she was awfully under the weather. She landed in the City Prison and after she had been conducted to a cell the name on the book appeared as Jane Smith. An hour later a hack drove to the entrance of the City Prison and a well dressed man alighted, deposited $6 for "Jane Smith," and then took her away in the closed hack.

Anderson's Ride.

William Anderson is on trial to-day on a charge of burglary. He is accused of stealing a buggy, the property of George A. J. Davis. The defendant says that he took the buggy merely to enjoy a ride.

THE MIDNIGHT HORROR

Of the Burning of Piets Opera House and the Oakland Theater.
